DIRECTOR OF LEGAL

from £80k negotiable plus benefits

ICSTIS is the industry funded regulatory body for all premium rate charged telecommunications services. Our aim is to prevent consumer harm in a dynamic and growth market that covers multiple platforms such as TV voting, quiz shows, on-line gambling and SMS subscription services. We have significant powers devolved to us by Ofcom that enable us to fine and bar services if our Code of Practice is breached.

We are seeking a lead in-house counsel to direct all legal matters. As part of the leadership team, this diverse role will serve as the primary legal contact to all levels of the business across a range of issues. This includes developing to high standards our Code and other policy instruments as part of our focus on policy making within the framework of industry engagement and acting ahead of potential issues.

We require a senior commercial lawyer with considerable post qualification experience either in-house and/or private practice. Experience of policy and regulatory issues is essential alongside experience of the telecommunications industry. Applicants should apply in writing to Gail Wallwork, Human Resources at the address shown or email full details to gwallwork@icstis.org.uk.
